RE: Bennett Hendrix III

Dear Hiring Manager,

As Bennett's supervisor during his internship with Reinsurance Group of America, over the summer of 2018, I met with him frequently to assign responsibilities and discuss the industry. I was impressed with Bennett's initiative and ability to meet adapt to the workload. His attention to detail and strong customer focus did not go un-noticed. Bennett became a valued member of the Information Security team, and I'm confident that he has a successful career in security ahead of him.

As an intern in our Information Security Department, Bennett had a number of responsibilities. He worked with team members on various projects, including vulnerability management, remediation of PEN test findings, SEIM monitoring and day to day user requests. Bennett excelled at seeking out assistance and collaborating with team members for issues that were beyond his skillset further shedding light on his "team player" attitude. It is clear Bennett has a passion for security and willing to make the investment in education and research, enabling him to be a knowledgeable asset to the team.

Bennett was working independently on additional training and certifications throughout his time at RGA. His willingness to put the effort in above and beyond his daily responsibilities further demonstrate his work ethic and self-motivation. I believe he will be an asset to any team he is a member of.
